

Are you worried about Hep C?

Get Tested

Get Treated

Get Cured

Hepatitis C is blood borne viral infection. People who inject drugs are at a greater risk of coming into contact with hepatitis C.

Get tested today! It's a simple finger prick blood test and you can get your results in as little as an hour. If you test positive for the virus, fast access to new treatments are available.

Forget the past, new treatments have very few side effects and have a very high success rate.

Speak to your worker today and explore testing and treatment options.

To find out more about testing and treatment visit - www.hepculater.com

Working together with:

Are you worried about Hep C?

Why live with Hep C
when in 12 weeks you could be free?

New treatments are available.

No more injections.

One dose of tablets a day.

There are much fewer side effects than the old treatments. The new treatments are highly effective and last for 8-12 weeks in most cases.

Speak to your worker today, get tested, get treated get cured.

To find out more about testing and treatment visit -
www.hepculater.com

Working together with:

Are you worried about Hep C?

So, you Think You Know About Hep C!

Did you know?

A high number of people who have injected drugs have Hep C.

There is no immunity! If you have cleared Hep C naturally or through treatment, you can still be re-infected. Treatments have changed, new treatments have much fewer side effects.

No more injections, just one dose of tablets per day.

Testing is quick and easy to access with results in as little as an hour in some cases.

There is no vaccine but there is a cure.

To find out more about testing and treatment visit - www.hepculater.com

Working together with:

